O'Rourke, manager of Sharkey, says that he knows nothing it the facts in the case, as he was not be or he was fouled and won the match legitimately. A man who backed the Sallor against Cov and who saw the former fight Fitz inlightened a crowd of sports yesterday with Firsimmons showed beyond a doubt that he was Sharkey's master in science and in punching. He made Tom look like a povice and hit him when he pleased. In the eighth round sharker was knocked out with a solar plexus blow fairly delivered. But the referee deprived Fitz deliberately by calling it a foul. There was no doubt about this, as nine out of every ten witnesses said so at the time." When Sharkey had this affair with Fitz he was comparatively green. He knew nothing ut scientific boxing and was in the hands men who did not believe it was necessary him to learn anything. He was simply t cough and ready sjugger, who, in his anxiety to win, used foul tactics. These methods he teked up in encounters in the navy, where rules do not generally figure much. Since O'Rourke took hold of him, however, he has learned rapidly. In his fight with Corbett the sailor surprised everybody with unexpected eleverness. He showed improvement against Mctoy, although there were many important points in his attack and defence which were worthy of criticism. Those who look unon shart coaching at the hands of O'Rourke and Dixon he will be a hard proposition to solve when he puts up his hands in a bout with Figure momes. Attention is also called to the fact that Firstimmons is a much older man that Sharkey and that a time will come when the Cornishman, like all pugilists, will become a back number. For this reason followers of Figure anxious to see him take Sharkey on at an early date. If, for any reason, the champion should decline to meet Sharkey at the Lenox A. C., and he is quoted as saying that he will not fight in any club managed by O'Rourke, it is possible that Maher will be asked to take his place. rules do not generally figure much. Since

Charles Mitchell, who is generally regarded as a back number, cabled from London to O'Rourke yesterday asking if Sharkey would fight him at the National Sporting Club in May. O'Rourke cabled back for further particulars, Mitchell, it is thought, would be the easiest kind of a mark for Sharkey, and if sufficient inducements are offered O'Rourke may go to England to pick up some "easy moner."

An offer has been made to McCoy to fight Temmy Ryan of Syracuse at the Lenox Club for 50 per cent of the gate receipts. Before his fight with Sharkey the Kid said he wanted to meet Byan, win or lose. As McCoy adheres to the statement that he weighed 150% pounds when he got into the ring on Tuesday night, and Ryan can fight at about 150 pounds, a match between them would be a pretty even thing. Ryan is as clever in point of science as McCoy, sporting men say, and has improved wonderfully since he left the welterweight class, in which he was knocked out by the Kid at Maspeth several years ago. There is not the best of feeling between these men, and Hyan says that he can win. The latter showed good form recently in a twenty-round fight with Jack Bonner, a dangerous heavyweight, who was outpointed and soundly thrashed, even though he had previously throcked out Dan Creedon in a punch. Ryan says he taught McCoy all he knows, and that he is the Kid's master in everything except the weights.

"If he beats me," said Ryan, who has authorized O'Rourke to make a match, "I will shake him by the hand. But I think I can trim him and wish he would give me a chance."

McCor has been advised by his friends to stay in the middleweight class hereafter, but he wants to tackle Corbett. There is not much chance for a match, however, as Corbett is not looked upon as being sincere in his talk.

John T. Brush, President of the Cincinnati Baseball Club, is still in town, but he declines John T. Brush, President of the Cincinnati Baseball Club, is still in town, but he declines to say much about the situation in the Lengue. While he was at the Hoffman House yesterday abell of Brooklyn and Vonderhorst of Balti-more were holding a confab nearby. Brush said he had not seen the two men, who were fixing up the final details of the deal by which Hanlon will come to Brooklyn with the pick of his Baltimore team. While everybody ap-pears to be keeping under cover, it is not de-nied that the magnates are perfecting their plans to spring a surprise when the League meets here again next month.

John B. Day has no plans to reveal about the make-up of the New Yorks this year, but it is believed that the team will not undergo many clanges. "Scrappy Isill" Joyce is still on the reserve list of the club, and baseball men are beginning to wonder what will be his fate, Joyce is in St. Louis, and receatedly states that he will not be turned down by Freedman. With Day as manager and Jack Doyle on first base, the cranks are suzzled to know of what ise Joyce can be to the club. It is hinted that "Scrappy Hill" would like to manage a Western League club, where his cowbox tactics on the diamond would be apppreciated. and would be apppreciated.

In taking nearly 100 cycle riders and trains to San Francisco the promoters appear to stretching things to the limit. They say, wever, that there is a big field there for nd that as the outlaw movement is flourish in California, a six-day race ort-distance events will catch the bound to flourish in California, a six-day race and short-distance events will catch the rublic money. If successful in their venture the promoters say they will repeat it so that the promoters say they will repeat it so that the professional riders will be able to thrive twelve months in the year. Persons who have had experience in cycle racing believe that this undertaking will entail many risks and that if the managers come out of it with a balance on the right side they will be very fortunate. In carrying so many men across the continent great expense is incurred. The arrangement made with the riders is that their expenses will be paid, the money to be returned if they win any cash prizes. Under these circumstances it would appear that the riders will have the best end of the deal, whether the venture falls or not.

Although a meeting of the Harvard, Cornell and Yale rowing men was slated to be held this week to arrange the big varsity boat race, it has been called off for the present and nablody in authority seems to know when the matter will be settled. The announcement that Harvard and Yale will stick to New London is thought to have made Cornell deliberate more carefully before entering into a conference. The University of Pennsylvania is likely to be consulted by the Ithacans beforehend, and as the Quakers show a disposition to hold out for Poughkeepsie matters may be blocked for some time to come. Collegs men eav that rather than oreak off relations with Old Penn. Cornell will withdraw from the race with Yale and Harvard, a proceeding that would probably cause universal regret, except at New Haven.

JEFFRIES'S SWEEPING CHALLENGE. He Wants to Fight Sharkey, Fitz, Corbett,

William A. Brady, former manager of Jim Corbett, has decided to enter the pugilistic field again as the mentor of Jim Jeffries, the California heavyweight, who last year got a decision over Sharkey. Jeffries wants to fight any of the leading heavyweights, including Corbett. Brady informed The Sun last night that he had just received the following from San Francisco:

Having to-day made a telegraph arrangement by which I place myself under the sole management of William A Brady, who hereafter will have absolute control of my athletic undertakings, I hereby issue this challenge:

William A. Brady, who hereafter will have absolute control of my athletic undertakings, I hereby issue this challenge:

I have never been defeated, and have gained a decision over Thomas Sharkey, to whom I administered a severe beating in twenty rounds and who is now apparently regarded in New York city as the new thin before the world. I therefore decisive to meet him before the club offering the best inducements, with or without a side bet. In the event of his consenting to fight to a minish for a side wager I am prepared to make it $10,000 a side, the winner to take all, or to coincide with any other arrangement to his satisfaction.

Sharkey has, I admit, fought without reserve during the past few months, and if he urges that he is utiled to a rest I will in the meanthing meet Robert Passimmons, the alleged world's champions. It has been asserted that Fitzsimmons has money up on deposit for such an emergency, and if he will kindly inform me where it is I will cover it without delay. He can make his own conditions and I will accept them. If Mr. Fitzsimmons still refuses to defend his alleged championally pretentions, I am prepared to meet James J. Corbett, Charles McCoy, or Peter Maher, first come first served, or all of them within as short a time as they may indicate. My desire is to fight, and not to engage in long-range newspaper discussion.

I will go East to train as soon as any one of these gentlemen hamed shows a disposition to fight by depositing his cash.

The only undereated heavy-weight in the world.

Brady says that Jeffries will be trained by

The only underested heavyweight in the world.

Brady says that Jeffries will be trained by Billy Delaney, Corbett's old handler. Jeffries was seen here at the Lenox Club last summer in a ten-round bout with Bob Armstrong. He did not make a favorable impression, but it was said by his friends that he was in poor condition, owing to a change of climate. Jeffries is one of the biggest heavyweights in the profession. He weighs 210 pounds when in fighting trim and is a muscular marvel. He is a boilermaker by trade and a fighter pure and simple. After being defeated by Sharkey Corbett said he was going to Frisco to tackle Jeffries, so that the latter feels that it will be an easy matter to make a match with the ex-champion.

ATHLETICS.

Al Copland Selected to Train Yale's Track Team.

C. H. Sherrill, Chairman of the Graduates Advisory Committee at Yale, announced yesterday that after a conference with Capt. Fisher of the track team at the Yale Club on Wednesday night they had decided to engage A. F. Copland as trainer, his duties to begin at once. Copland is a well-known athlete. He became prominent in 1888, when a member of the Manhurdler and broad jumper and holds a number of world's records. In that year he not only won the American and Canadian amateur charapionships in the sprints and hurdles, but also signally defeated Fred Westing, after the latter had won the English championship in sprinting as a member of the same club. Copland still holds the record in hurdling for 75, 80, 100, 120 and 250 yards. His time for 120 yards, over ten hurdles 2 feet 6 inches high, is 14 3-5 seconds. He held the record for 300 yards up to 1897, when his time, 37 3-5 seconds, was beaten by Kraenzlein of Syracuse University. In 1890 Copland made a record of 23 feet 3's inches for the running broad jump, which was not excelled until last year, when Prinstein did 23 feet 7 inches. hurdler and broad jumper and holds a num-

Copland was one of 150 applicants for the place. Mike Sweeney, the high jumper, who is trainer at the Hill School, Pottstown, was talked of, as was Harry Cornish of the Knickerbocker A. C. In announcing Copland's engagement Sherrill said yesterday:

"We concluded that it was better to engage a man who possesses known ability rather than some trainer with a reputation who has not been successful. Copland excelled in the sprints, hurdles and jumps, and should be able to train Yale's athletes competently in these departments. We do not know what he can do with the weights, but we believe he has a practical knowledge of all departments of track and field sports. He will get a chance to make a reputation for himself, and will probably take charge at once, as the candidates are already doing gymnasium work."

Cregan Besigns as Captain of Princeton's Track Team.

PRINCETON, Jan. 12.-John F. Cregan, the speedy distance runner, who was elected captain of the Princeton University track team last spring, resigned to-day. He gave no reason. The resignation has not been accepted by the Graduate Advisory Committee, and it is understood that an effort will be made to have him reconsider his action. Frank W. Jarvis, 1800, who won the 440-vard dash at the intercollegiate meet last year, and Herbert Wheeler, who played full back on the varsity football eleven last fail, and who is also a clever hurdler, are prominently mentioned for the place in case Gregan cannot be persuaded to retain it.

Arrangements are being made for a dual track meet with Cornell's team, to be held in Ithaca on May 30. The management of both teams have held several meetings, and it has been agreed to have the same events as those which will make up the intercollegiate programme. The action of Princeton's track management in taking on games with Cornell puts a damper on the hopes of those who expected to see Princeton and Old Penn patch up their difficulties and get together next spring. him reconsider his action. MILWAUEEE, Jan. 12.-The University of Wisonsin football team will go East next fall. The authority for this statement is Manager Fisher. NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. Trouble in the Massachusetts Division of the L. A. W. Boston, Jan. 12 - Arthur K. Peck, the defeated candidate for Secretary-Treasurer of the Massachusetts division, L. A. W., is out with a statement, in which he charges that the election was illegal and that he intends to file with the National Committee on Privileges, and praying for the setting aside of that election The grounds on which Peck declares the election illegal are two. First, that the method of counting ballots by the Returning Committee was against the rules and regulations of the L. A. W., and, second, that the Committee on Rights and Privileges refused to act on his petition for a recount. He threatens to dispute the scating of the Massachusetta delegates to the Assembly in Providence in Feb. ruary and to insist on a hearing before that body. In speaking of the treatment he had received at the hands of the Massachusetts division officials, Peck said: The question with me now is one of prin ciple, whether the rights of a member of this division are to be respected. I believe I have a clear case and a perfectly legitimate demand clear case and a perfectly legitimate demand for redress entitling me to a decision. I presume that if I win my case—that is to say, if the late election is set aside and a new one called for—the entire Massachusetts division delegation will be unseated, for the last board meeting could hardly be construed as legal, and its election of delegates to the Assembly void.

Chief Consul Elliot, in conversation with The SUN correspondent this afternoon, said that the question of the methods of counting the votes at the last election might be considered as somewhat irregular, but explains it as follows:

"The returning board, whose duty it is to receive and count ballots, has for its Chairman Abbott Bassett, Secretary of the L. A. W. whose veracity and ability have never been questioned. When the larger part of the ballots had been received Bassett requested permission from the members of the Elections Committee, which appointed the returning board, to commence counting the ballots hefore all were received, as he found it impossible to give the necessary time to the performance of the committee, including Peck, agreed to his proposition, and he was allowed to count the ballots at his home in the evening. Besides giving his assent as a member of the committee, as an individual, and as a candidate, Peck also gave his permission and stated that he would accept the result, whatever its nature. It seems that he has changed his min since the result was announced. With regard to his being turned down by the Committee of Rights and Privileges on his petition for a recount I would say that the committee which received his request was about to give up its office, owing to the fact that its term had expired, and as a new committee which received his request was about to give up its office, owing to the fact that its term had expired, and as a new committee which received his request was about to give up its office, owing to the fact that its term had expired, and as a new committee which received his request was about to give up for redress entitling me to a decision. 1 pre received his request was about to give up its office, owing to the fact that its term had expired, and as a new committee has not as yet been appointed, and the thirty days' notice which is required before a matter can be carried to the National Committee has not expired, Peck will have to wait until that time before he can do as he threatens."

BALTIMORE, Jan. 12.—At a conference held here to-day between T. J. Keenan of Pittsburg, Albert Mott and Conway W. Sams it was de-cided that Mr. Sams should withdraw as a can-didate for the Presidency of the L. A. W. and give his support to Keenan for that office. The give his support to Reenan for that office. The situation was decided in a novel manner. At the meeting both Keenan and Sams said it was not their desire to have a contest for the office and it was then decided that the candidate who could show the strongest backing should have a clear field. The candidates compared notes and found their support was about even with one State in doubt. A telegram was sent to the doubtful district and the answer was favorable to Keenan, whereupon Sams promptly witherew from the rare. He will assist Keenan, and if the latter is elected President of the League Mott will in all probability retain the Chairmanship of the Racing Board.

League Mott will in all probability retain the Chairmanship of the Bacing Board.

The new local consulate of the L. A. W. was organized last night by the Board of Consula. The old executives, Louis Bosenfeid, Dr. L. C. Le Roy and F. M. Frobisher, were placed in nomination for re-election, but Bosenfeid still refused to serve as Senior Consul again, because his personal affairs would not permit him to devote the necessary time. The officers elected were: Dr. L. C. Le Roy, Senior Consul; F. M. Frobisher, Junior Consul; E. A. Crowe, Secretary-Treasurer. A committee of three was appointed to confer with representatives of all the associations interested in cycling and good roads in the Greater City for the purpose of defining plans concerning two days' use of the concert hall at Madison Square Garden during the week of the cycle show, Jan. 21-28. The hall has been given to the L. A. W. for two days and two nights, and the L. A. W. representatives purpose to hold a continuous good roads convention. The idea of the L. A. W. officials is to have the Associated Cycling Clubs, Good Roads Association and all cycling organizations cooperate with the committee that arranges the programme and directs the convention. A meeting will be held at the New York State Division offices, 132 Nassau street, to-morrow to which all cycling organizations are invited to send delegates.

President Potter said yesterday that the bill introduced at Albany by Senator Ellsworth on Tuesday, providing for a State committee on side paths for wheelmen and for a tax of from 50 cents to $1 on wheel riders to maintain paths, has the indorsement of the L. A. W. and of wheelmen generally, but he would suggest that the bill should be amended so as to read "cycle paths," because "side paths? must be alongside of a road, while cycle paths are often run across roads and fields.

Harry Elkes, the Glens Falls eyeler, who has shown himself to be a "comer" in paced racing ever since last summer, when he won the one-hour record, won last night the chief paced race at Madison Square Garden be defeated Eddle McDuffee of Boston, who won the title of middle distance champion in 1838 by winning every race in which he rode. Elkes rode the ful distance in 52 minutes 34 3-5 seconds. Me-Duffee completed the twenty-five miles after Elkes had left the track. His time was 50 minutes 15 1-5 seconds.

The events last night wound up the indoor racing season. Many of the spectators came late, their interest being evidently centred in the paced race of the champions. Elkes, the first to appear, received great applause. Mc-Duffee, who is comparatively little known to New Yorkers, also received sufficient plause to make him realize that he had nore than a few sympathizers. The men started from opposite sides of the track. Elkes had nine tandems on hand, but held two in reserve. McDuffee had seven pacing teams and one man in reserve. Elkes was a hot favorite before the start, and considerable betting was done privately, the odds varying from 150 to 100 to even money. One of the police officers, who was made the stakeholder of a wager of $75 against $50, nearly caused the bettors to have anoplexy by disappearing temporarily at the end of the race. He had been called to another part of the building for a few minutes. The men whose money he held did not take his number, and they fumed tremendously till the "cop" came back and delivered the money, with many apologies.

The men whose money he held did not take his number, and they fumed tremendously till the "cop" came back and delivered the money, with many apologies.

Elkes rode a wheel geared to 107. McDuffee's gear being 112. In the first mile McDuffee's teams, pulled him along faster than Elkes's tandems travelled, and he was ahead at the end of the first ten laps. In the second mile McDuffee began to show his poor condition by josing pace. Elkes rapidly closed in on him, and, coming up when Mac was travelling without pace, he hitched on behind the Boston boy. For about fifty yards the men rode together unpaced, then Elkes caught a tandem and passed on. After that it was a runaway, race for the Glens Falls speeder.

At the end of the third mile McDuffee was a lap behind. At the finish of the sixth mile Elkes was three laps ahead. He slowed up a bit then, and the crowd, seeing McDuffee beginning to gain, srew excited and cheered him on. Elkes at once proceeded to make a show of his rival by getting steam up again and going out at a clip that gave him, after two circuits of the track, practically another lap advantage. At fifteen miles he was more than half a mile ahead. At twenty miles he had a lead of one mile and one lap. At the finish he had won by one mile and three laps, and in time by 3 minutes and 40 3-5 seconds.

Lively interest in the preliminary races was manifested. Kramer, the L. A. W. amateur champion of DSS, won the semi-final and the final in the amateur handleap in the easiest kind of style. Hedstrom's fine riding was the feature of the one-mile professional contest. He won his heat from scratch after a het chase, and in the final, although he got third place, he made a heroic struggle, with the next man in front of him forty yards away. Excepting a ridiculous fall by a colored man, caused by his clumsily running into another competitor after the race, there were no accidents.

Just before the start of the big race a tumult was raised on the Twenty-sixth street side of the Garden by the entrance of Tom Sharkey, Peter Maher, Tom O'Rouvke and a party of red hot sports. The crowd in the centre of the arena surged over and stood in front of the box occupied by the Sailor and cheered lustily. Two women who were in the box with the conqueror of McCoy seemed to enjoy the ovation as much as did the pugilist. A couple of enthusiastic sports who had imbibed too freely had seats near by, and eight policemen were seen required to suppress their demonstrativeness and prevent a riot. Charles T. Stout, Secretary of the Golf Committee of the Staten Island Cricket and Baseball Club, has prepared his report of the past season's play, which will be submitted to the annual meeting this month. The report is of particular interest, for next season the club will have new links of eighteen holes at Fox's Hills, and the present course, which has been the scene of many interesting matches since it was first turned over to the club by the Sailor's Snug Harbor trustees, in 1898, will be abandoned by the men, although the women memers may still retain it for their special combers may still retain it for their special competitions.

The season of 1898 began on April 16 with a team match against I ale, and did not end until the Christmas Day handleap, on Dec. 29. In all, including six mixed foursomes held on "ladies day," thirty competitions were held, exclusive of team contests. The club championship, which was instituted for the first time for a gold medal presented by G. E. Armstring, on May 14, was won by John Chadwick, with a gross score of 84. The medal-play record for the year, however, was made by E. L. Richards, winner of the July handleap for the Doctor's Cup, who made 70 gross. This cup was the gift of Dr. B. O'Connor, and was played for five times under the percentage system. The winners, besides Richards, were Dr. O'Connor, W. S. Callender, W. A. Hamilton and C. T. Stout. Stout took the cup, as he had two seconds to his credit in addition to the win. He captured more prizes than any of the members and played a consistent game from scratch throughout the year. Besides the Doctor's Cup Stout won five other scratch prizes, the semi-annual tournament, the handies a challenge cups in May and November, the prizes, the semi-annual tournament, the handl-cap challenge cups in May and November, the net-score challenge cup in May and a bogic tournament. Annie Oakley Wins at the Traps.

Doven, N. J., Jan. 12.-A twenty-five live bird match between Annie Oakley and Charles Munson, a well-known shot of this place, was the attraction this afternoon at the Lake Den mark Shooting Park. There was a big attend-nace. Annie Oak ey easily demonstrated her superior skill by killing 25 out of 25, the other two dropping dead out of bounds. Munson was not in good form, his score being 17 out of 25, with one dead out of bounds. The latter was equally unlucky in a subsequent twenty-five-bird match with Con Haille, a local sport. Munson gave up when at the twelfth bird, Hallie being six in the lead. mark Shooting Park. There was a big attend-

SHATING. Merry Skaters Disport Themselves on Cen-tral Park Lakes.

From 90'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock last night the lakes in Central Park were erowded with skating enthusiasts, who glided over the smooth ice in full enjoyment of the first day's open-air skating. Even before the red ball went up and the ice was declared free and open for the sport of the multitude, a crowd of juveniles had gathered on the banks in anticipation. When the signal was given and with a loud horrsh started the giddy whirl. As the morning wore on the crowd in-creased. The aristocratic girls domiciled in the apartment houses bordering on the west side perceived the happy throng circling the lake, and forsook the rinks for the pleasanter sensation of exercise in the open air. At 3 o'clock there were at least 5,000 on the Fancy skaters were also in evidence. These sought sequestered spats and est Dutch rolls, figure eights and the other intricate figures, while admiring groups of less proficient skaters encestly watched the evolutions.

Prominent figures in the crowd on the big lake were a number of members of the various athletic clubs. Charles kinther, the goal of the New York Athletic Club s water polo team, was one of the most proficient performers on the steel blades. Sam Thomas, the New York Athletic Club's champion sprinter, and Hurdler Albert floe of the Pastime Athletic Club's champion sprinter, and Hurdler Albert floe of the Pastime Athletic Club were also noticeable figures.

It was at night, however, that the big lake presented the most picturesque scene. Calcium lights were placed around the edges of the lee, and wherever there was a danger spot. They shed a light that haif illuminated the big sheet of ice, and throughout the night the figures darting from the shadows into the glare of the light produced a weird effect. The crowd increased as the hours wore on and the stores and offices added their complement to the pleasure seekers, until at 10 octoek there were at least 10,000 persons gliding noiselessly around on the steel runners. In the uncertait light many parties were squarted, and all night long the loud "hullo" of skaters seeking their companions echoed through the Park.

Falls were frequent throughout the day, and many an expert showing off his prowess tested the hardness of the ice. No serious accident occurred, however, though blood flowed on more than one occasion as the result of an unusually hard cellision.

The tiny flakes clung affectionately to the hair and garments of the women and glistened prettily in the streaks of light. By the time the police started to clear the lake at 10 clock most of the skaters were tired out, the thick fur of cut ice making progression anything but easy, and the throng were easily dispersed in the hope of another day's fun should the snow hold off.

The New York A. C. Defeats the St. Nich olas Skating Club in Brooklyn.

In an interesting game of hockey the New York A. C. team defeated the crack St. Nicholas Skating Club seven at the Clermont Avenue Rink, Brooklyn, last night. It was a lively and scientific exhibition, and a large crowd was present. Larned won the puck in the face-off for St. Nicholas and sent it to Callender, who passed it to Brokaw. The latter tried for goal, but the ball was neatly blocked by Roberts. Upon the return of the puck, with almost the entire St. Nicholas team back of it, H. Pope got the disk, and with able assistance from Spalding, who passed the rubber to Baird, the first goal of the match was made. Time, 5 minutes 45 seconds. This gave the New York A.C. men present a chance to yell, and they let loose in carnest. With the score 1 to 0 against them, the St. Nicholas men tried play after play, but Roberts was always in the way. Wherever the Roberts was always in the way. Wherever the St. Nicholas feam sent the puck, whether on a pass, dribble, or shoot, there was always a wearer of the "Mercury Foot" emblem to block the play. To this fact alone may be attributed the victory of the New York A.C.

In the second period the puck was captured by Fenwick, who carried it up the ice, the teams having changed goals. The New Yorks' captain tried a clever shot for a goal, which Biair stopped with his skate. The puck then was thrown down the ice by Slocum, who fell as he made the shot. Before he could rise Baird had pulled it down with one hand, and with his stick dribbled it down the ice toward the St. Nicholas goal under the protection of with his stick dribbled it down the ice toward the St. Nicholas goal under the protection of Spaiding, Wallace, and Beckert, with Fenwick and Fone on the flanks. Just as they neared the St. Nicholas goal the wings apread out and like a flash the rubber was sent to Capt Fenwick, who shot a star goal. Time, 3 minutes 45 seconds. There was no further seoring, the final figures being: New York A. C., 2 goals; St. Nicholas Skating Club, 0.

The Thistle Rink in Hoboken was the scene of an exciting curling match late on Wednesday night. The contending clubs were the Caledonians and St. Andrew's of this city. The ice was in fine condition. D. McKimmor handled the Caledonian experts in good style on Rink 1, and after a sharp tussic won by 10 to 0. Meanwhile on Rink 2 T. Roller Polo.

The Yonkers roller polo team was defeated in a close and exciting game by the New Yorks at the Grand Central Palace last night, the score being 4 to 5. It was by far the roughest contest ever seen in this city, and both teams were guilty of foul tactics. An extra period was necessary to decide the victory. At the end of the third period the score was a tie, each side having 3 goals. Purcell finally won the game for New York with a drive down the length of the floor. Stambond, Jan. 12.—The Jersey City roller polo-tom won another victory over the Stamford team to-night, the score being a to 3. The game was far-more interesting than the score would indicate, and in its early stages the result was in doubt. When the teams lined up a great disparity in their physical proportions was noticeable, the Stamfords being far-lighter than their opponents. The latter were also inclined to be rough. Were it not for the tendency of Lee to leave his goal the score might have been different. In the first period the visitors scored I point, in the second 3 and in the third. A Stamford did all the scoring in the last period.
